Tasha Moses has been a member of POWAB since 2017 and currently serves as a co-chair. Tasha is the CEO for Strategic Management Services, LLC, a woman-owned management consulting firm based in National Harbor, MD. Tasha has a successful track-record for designing and implementing cross-sector public health programs and an established reputation for forging multi-sectorial collaborations with and between C-suite leaders and community stakeholder groups to accomplish shared goals. Tasha's unique background encompasses 15 years of diverse experience in the non-profit, government and private sectors.

An effective facilitator, Tasha has been hired by national organizations to include the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Institute of Medicine (IOM), Patient Advocate Foundation, American Lung Association and the American College of Rheumatology to develop and facilitate strategy meetings, workshops, trainings, webinars and focus groups on disease topics to include lupus, cancer, tobacco cessation and diabetes.

Prior to Strategic Management Services, Tasha's career involved tenures at several health care organizations in the District of Columbia and New York City. Her responsibilities at these organizations included operations management, program administration for government funded programs dealing with HIV/AIDS and STD prevention, community health, immunizations and school-based health; and coordinating activities in preparation for health care organization and state accrediting bodies.

Tasha has a Dual Bachelor of Science in Political Science and Sociology from Northeastern University and a Master of Public Administration with a specialization in Health Policy and Management from NYU's Robert F. Wagner School of Public Service.
